THE DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATES.

The democratic county convention which met here for the purpose of nominating candidates for county offices did its work well, and placed a strong ticket in the field. While it is not to be expected that everybody in the county is satisfied with the nominees, because it would be impossible to please everybody, the nominations this year are above the average made in the county for the past ten years. The ticket is one which democrats can vote and feel that they have voted for good men.

It is such a ticket as the republicans will not be able to defeat no matter what schemes they may try to work during the campaign. Most of the nominees are men well known throughout the county and they will run on their merits.

The nominee for sheriff, Baylor Shannon, has, during the term he has served as county commissioner, proved himself to be an honest, capable and efficient officer and the taxpayers of the county are well aware of the fact. He is deservedly popular, no man on either ticket being more popular with the voters of the county than Mr. Shannon, and can win the race for sheriff hands down.

John F. Kious, who will be the first collector of Grant county, has had experience in the sheriff's office which will be of use to him in his official capacity as collector. He is a young man of good habits, well known throughout the county and will come in under the wire next November several lengths ahead in the collectorship race.

Nobody in the republican party expects to see E. M. Young beaten in the race for the office of probate clerk. He has made a faithful and efficient officer and has discharged the duties of his office to the entire satisfaction of the great majority of the voters of the county. It would not be surprising if his majority would be even larger than it was two years ago.

Dave Tullock, the candidate for assessor, developed unexpected strength in the convention, which is a sure indication of popularity. He will make a strong race for the office and will undoubtedly be elected.

None of the old residents of this county need to be told of Robert V. Newsham. He was one of the county officials when the expenses of Grant county were but a tithe of what they are now, and he made an excellent officer. The voters of the county will make no mistake if they elect him to the responsible position of probate judge.

The nominee for treasurer, G. W. M. Carvil, is known to a majority of the voters of the county and will poll a big vote next November. He has been a resident of this city for a number of years, and by industry and good management has succeeded in getting together a snug fortune which speaks well for his financial ability.

The next superintendent of public schools will be T. B. Link. He is a young man fitted in every way for the place to which he aspires. He is a man of good character and is deserving of success in the campaign.

The nomination of George R. Brown for county surveyor by the democrats was but an act of simple justice. He was the nominee of the party two years ago and would have been county surveyor now but for the fact that his name was, by some strange oversight, left off the ticket. He will be elected this time.

Perhaps no man in Grant County has had more experience as acting coroner than Judge Givens, the democratic nominee for the office of coroner. There is no doubt about his election and he will fill the position with the dignity which becomes an office of such grave responsibility.

A better commissioners' ticket than that nominated by the democrats of this county this year has never been named in Grant county. The candidates are all men in whom the voters of the county can place the most implicit confidence and can be relied upon to manage the affairs of the county honestly and economically. The commissioners are the most important officers in the county and just now when the affairs of the county are in bad shape as regards financial matters it is of the greatest importance that a board of county commissioners should be elected to manage the affairs of the county in a businesslike manner. One of the nominees, Mr. Brannin, will bring two years of experience in county matters with him into the next board and he, with Mr. Davidson and Mr. Clark, both well known business men, can safely be entrusted with the management of the business of the county.

The ticket, as a whole, is one of which the democrats of the county may justly be proud.

The county democratic central committee are in a quandary as to what name to print on the ticket as their candidate for treasurer. Some of them want to print Geo. W. M. Carvil. Others want to print Geo. M. Mattatle. Others want to print it L. A. Skelly's Father-in-law. Whichever of the three is used makes no difference as they all apply to the same man, a person from Nova Scotia, who was recently naturalized.—Western Liberal.

The handsome and talented editor of the Western Liberal who insists on having his name written thus: Don: H. Kedzie, instead of Donizetti Halicarnassus Kedzie, may be pardoned for cutting his name in two with a colon but people who live in glass houses should not throw stones. G. W. M. Carvil is not so long as George Washington Mattatle Carvil and is undoubtedly an improvement on George Washington Mattatle as Don:, even with the colon, in an improvement on Donizetti. Mr. Carvil was a resident of this place twelve years ago and was in business here before Donizetti had left the pine woods of Michigan. Donizetti Halicarnassus will doubtless find out what name has been printed on the democratic ballots about the 7th of November, A. D. 1894, when the republican crew will man the row boat for a trip up saline creek. Mr. Carvil is too well known in Grant county as a prosperous and honorable business man to be injured in the least by any such insinuation as the above.
